DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Alexander (Fig. 1).
3. Claims 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Grimes et al (Figs. 4-7).

Applicant should note that rib (36) defines a circular aperture within the plate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grimes et al.

Grimes et al (Figs. 4-7) as applied above substantially disclose applicant's invention as recited by instant claims 14-17, except for the specific dimensional characteristics set forth thereby. The reference does clearly disclose within the figures of the reference dimensions of the plate that closely approximate the rib and ligament dimensions as set forth by the instant claims. In view of the overall teaching of the reference, it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention, to modify the dimensional characteristics of the plate thickness and rib sizes, by way of routine experimentation, if it were desired to more tightly or loosely pack the plates together within a useable matrix, whereby such modifications would allow for improved contact between the phases within the assembled plate matrix, thus improving the efficiency of the device for the desired purpose of use.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

8. Applicant's arguments filed December 8, 2004 and February 28, 2005 with respect to the Alexander reference have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Specifically, applicant argues that the ribs of Alexander cannot be considered thicker than the ligaments, since the ribs are formed from the same sheet as the ligaments and thus have the same thickness. This is not persuasive, since applicant's specification defines the "thickness" dimension, at page 13, lines 9-11, of the ribs and ligaments as measured in a direction normal to the plane of the plate. Clearly, when measured as required by applicant, the ribs (11-14) of Alexander are definitely thicker than the ligament portions of the plate (10) of Alexander.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
